

Cambridge English Language for Teaching

Improve your classroom and professional English

www.cambridgeenglish.org/language-for-teaching

Online English language courses for teachers

The three Language for Teaching courses – A2, B1 and B2 – are ideal if you are a teacher working in primary or secondary education, with learners aged 6–18 years.

The courses help you with your general English and English for the classroom, giving you the language you need to teach with confidence. They are:

- designed to improve your level of English – from Basic to Independent user (CEFR Levels A1 to B2)
- convenient – online learning means you can train in addition to teaching your regular classes
- designed and developed by Cambridge English, part of the University of Cambridge.

Language for Teaching courses are offered to groups of teachers through institutions and governments. The minimum order for Language for Teaching is 100 courses. Talk to your employer if you're interested in taking the course, or visit our website for more information.

Format	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ Online, self-study▪ Optional tutor-led sessions▪ Up to 120 hours.
Assessment	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ Online progress tests▪ Optional Cambridge English exam.
Minimum entry requirements	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ Basic English language user (CEFR Level A1 for A2 course; Level A2 for B1 course)▪ Independent user (CEFR Level B1 for B2 course).
Framework stages	Foundation to Proficient.

When you complete each course, you receive a Cambridge English certificate of completion.

Find out more about the Cambridge English Teaching Framework:
www.cambridgeenglish.org/teaching-framework

All details are correct at the time of going to print in July 2015.

© UCLES 2015 | CE/3551h/5Y07

 CAMBRIDGE ENGLISH
Language Assessment
Part of the University of Cambridge

Learn more at: www.cambridgeenglish.org/language-for-teaching