The Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) describes language ability on a scale of levels from A1 to C2. It is used around the world to describe learners’ language skills.