

Cambridge English for Schools

Dear

Success in Cambridge English exams

We are delighted that your students have done so well in their recent Cambridge English exams. Have you thought about how you can share your students' success with parents, the school and the wider community?

Here are some ideas for getting the most out of your students' Cambridge English exam results.

- Recognise the students' English teacher

Motivating children to learn a foreign language isn't always easy and preparing students for Cambridge English exams is a huge achievement. Inside this pack you'll find a Thank you letter you can present to your students' English teacher.

- Arrange an awards ceremony

This is a great way to celebrate your students' achievements and give each child recognition for their hard work. This could be as simple as handing out certificates in front of the whole school, or arranging a special event for parents, governors, local media (newspaper, TV and radio) and the local community. It will be special for your students, whatever you choose to do.

To help you make the arrangements, enclosed in this pack you'll find:

- an invitation letter for parents
- a video with a short message from our Chief Executive, Saul Nassé
- the Thank you letter for your English teacher (mentioned above).

- Share news from the awards ceremony

To make the very most of your awards ceremony, you could write a short news item for your school website, social media pages or newsletter. You could also send this to local media. Make sure you let your local Cambridge English Language Assessment office know about any news items you publish or stories that appear in the local media about your students' success.

Here is some example text you could use as a guide:

Cambridge English for Schools

Students celebrate Cambridge English exam success

An awards ceremony was held on Friday 12 April at ABC School. The event celebrated the success of 30 Grade 6 students in Cambridge English: First for Schools. This is an international English language exam, developed and produced by Cambridge English Language Assessment – part of the University of Cambridge.

Head teacher, Anna Smith, said, “Cambridge English certificates are accepted throughout the world as proof of language ability. I’m delighted our students measure up to international standards and are developing the English language skills they’ll need for future study and work success.”

Start preparing your students for the next Cambridge English exam

We hope you will find that your students will have even more motivation to learn English, now that they have taken such a positive step forward in their learning. Cambridge English exams are designed to develop your students’ language skills step by step. To find out the next step for your students, and for activities, games and other resources, go to www.cambridgeenglish.org/schools

Once again, congratulations to you and your students.

Kind regards

CAMBRIDGE ENGLISH
Language Assessment
Part of the University of Cambridge